

SERETHA

I live in the forest I am called Grey-cheeked Mangabey. I am ever making hoop-gobbles when I am marking my territory. I like feeding on insects like grubs. I fear a Crown Eagle which has swooped many of my friends while enjoying sunshine. Now I have learnt how to hide from the damn eagle for he is ever whistling where is meat, where is meat, where is meat in a high pitched sound. You will hear the Red tails, alarming while running to hide in the thick canopy.

The other adversary of mine is the Mighty Chimpanzee who is as clever as man he hunts us and sometimes enjoy our flesh (meat).

I pray through my hoop gobbles.

BY ASTONE